

Allison, +
Andrew

Make Your Day

Your child has received a make your day slip. This honor slip should not be a punishment. It is one bad day for him/her. This slip is for you and your child to talk over the responsibility he/she took today. Your child should be proud that he/she took responsibility, but it is not the best your child can do. The next day your child should have a clean plate and not get another one. This is why you should be proud of your child for taking responsibility.

This slip does not go on your permanent record.

I will come to school w a pos attitude & put what happened behind me lime green light blue